Considering the early end to term – with school concluding after an early Assembly on Thursday at 2:30pm (with Good Friday the start to the holidays) today’s early newsletter is an opportunity to reflect on a busy and productive Term One.

I have thoroughly enjoyed the term, making a special mention of how the prep children have settled so quickly. A credit to the teachers for this terrific start to the children’s primary schooling and we also appreciate the support and help from parents. It was great to see the “preppies” this morning at the Easter Bonnet Parade … you all deserve a great holiday break from next week onwards. We also welcomed to Blackburn Lake Primary the care and skill of both Jenn Markham and David Dowson – both to Grade One - and prepare to farewell Kerryn Straughan after the holidays as she takes leave for the birth of her first child.

On a daily basis I am impressed with the orderly learning environment of our school. This is due to the children being sent to school “ready to learn”, and also staff creating setting high expectations and reinforcing these positive behaviours. Walking through classrooms I have witnessed diligence, application and inquiry. All grades should be proud of their efforts this term. Although it was a shorter term, I believe the children have just about completed “a term’s worth” of work already. A great deal has been achieved this term with:

- Staff preparation on holidays and Curriculum Day learning in regards to improved teaching and learning, looking at the research of John Hattie and outlining the use of “learning intentions” and reflection;
- Over 90% of families paying Essential Education Contributions and collecting Pupil Packs prior to the commencement of the school year;
- Our Preps making an awesome start, including the welcoming of Prep parents at Parents Association organised “Tea and Tissues” morning;
- All grades completing a 10 day introductory unit of work Linking TRRACs to set up a learning culture in their new classrooms, whilst focusing on social literacy;
- Whole school ‘Bully Busters’ program (and Parent Information Night);
- The purchase of 60 ipads for use in Early Years classrooms;
- Parent Helpers Literacy training; and (Toe-by-Toe) Literacy Intervention training;
- ‘Morning Movers’ on Tuesday and Thursday mornings (from 8:30am);
- Student leaders undertaking classroom training, with School Captains also attending the National Young Leaders Day at the Melbourne Convention Centre;
- Our whole school Buddy program has been progressing well, with all children having a “buddy”;
- Weekly WiseOnes gifted and talented programs held in the Library;
- Canteen opening on Monday’s for Miss Peppercorn lunch orders, as well as over-the-counter sales (and icypoles on Fridays) – with many thanks to our parent volunteers;
- ‘Clean Up Australia’ (Schools) Day – including the senior students cleaning the Sanctuary;
- 295 Parent-Teacher Interviews held on ‘Getting To Know You’ evening;
- 211 students across the school undertaking instrumental tuition;
- Individual sports success at District Swimming Carnival – divisional and Eastern Region, and team accomplishment at the Level 4 Summer Sports Round Robin;

THE IMPORTANCE OF READING TO CHILDREN

Finally, as we approach the holidays, I thought it timely to pass on an article that was in the Sunday Age and written by John Elder. I have included it here for you as I believe it makes some very pertinent points about the importance of reading to children that would be endorsed by all teachers.

"MELBOURNE researchers have proven what parents have intuitively known all along – the more often you read to your children from an early age, the greater the positive effect on their reading and thinking skills. The Melbourne Institute of Applied Economic and Social Research have not only proven a causal effect between the frequency of reading to a child and his or her development, but have also for the first time measured the benefits.

Students four to five years old who are read to frequently (who are read to only twice or less a week). Children four to five years old who are read to three to five times a week have the same reading ability as children six months older (who are read to only twice or less a week). Reading to children six to seven days a week puts them almost a year ahead of those who are not being read to. It was also found that reading to small children has a positive effect on the development of numeracy skills.

"It does appear to be the case that children who are read to more often keep doing better as they age than other children," said Professor Guyonne Kalb, director of the institute’s Labour Economics and Social Policy Program and co-author of the study. The research – which was funded by the Department of Education and Early Childhood Development – found the positive outcomes occurred in children regardless of parental income, education level or cultural background. That is, children with poor backgrounds or parents of limited education or ability have the same benefit of being read to frequently.

"We wanted to try and determine whether reading itself is leading to better outcomes, or do parents who read to their children have other things going on," Professor Kalb said. "We worked with children representing a whole range of families, from all different backgrounds and economic circumstances. We found it doesn't matter if a child is from a poor or rich family, or if the parents are highly educated or not, doing this basic thing of reading to them leads to better developmental outcomes."

The longitudinal study followed the reading skills of more than 4,000 children, aged four to five years in 2004, through to age 10 to 11. Victorian Minister for Children and Early Childhood Development Wendy Lovell said the research was "an exciting step forward" in understanding the importance of reading to young children. "These findings send a clear message to parents, grandparents, teachers and carers that the benefits of reading go way beyond a shared bonding experience."

Considering the above article (copyright © 2013 Fairfax Media), please remember to include a daily book as you plan your holiday activities.

Don’t forget tomorrow’s end of term early dismissal at 2:30pm. I hope to see you at tomorrow’s Whole School Assembly @ 2pm to acknowledge our ‘Students of the Week’ and enjoy a performance from our Choir.

It's simple to participate: from Monday 8th April to 9th June 2013, whenever BLPS staff and parents shop at Woolworths they can collect points from the checkout operator and place them on point sheets. There'll be one point for every $10 spent (excluding liquor, tobacco, and gift cards). Once completed, they can place their point sheets in the collection box, either at your school or at your local Woolworths.

TEAM LAYLA - GOOD FRIDAY APPEAL
‘Team Layla’ is inspired by Layla H in Prep E who was born 4 months early and spent many months at the Royal Children’s Hospital. Each year our family and friends enter a team into the ‘Run For The Kids’ fun run and last Sunday we saw 126 Team Layla members come together to run/walk either a 5.5km or 15km in their hot pink team t-shirts. This year was the first time Layla ran (without a pram)! A huge effort.

We are asking the school community to help us raise funds for the Good Friday Appeal. To donate please go to the ‘Team Layla’ home page - http://www.everydayhero.com.au/teamlayla2013

If you are interested in joining Team Layla and participating in the run next year, we would love you to be part of the day. Please send me a quick e-mail at tash@tellurianwines.com.au
